

Judith Barnes Gallery Artist Exhibition Guidelines and Application

Cornerstone Center for the Arts

Cornerstone Center for the Arts (CCA) is looking for artists of all types and levels to show in the Judith Barnes Gallery. Judith Barnes was the founder of Muncie Center for the Arts and had the vision for Cornerstone Center for the Arts and their mission of Access to the Arts for All.

The gallery was created to show works from students and artists in the surrounding area. A committee of diverse community members will evaluate the art along with the artist's application to determine if it's a good fit with CCA. All works and subject matter are welcome and CCA will not censor submissions, however some pieces may be shown in a more private setting based on the subject matter.

Typically gallery showings will be for one month including a First Thursday opening from 5 to 8 pm. The artist will be introduced at the First Thursday opening. The artist is not obligated to attend the opening but is strongly encouraged. CCA will ask the artist to speak for 5-10 minutes about their works and techniques on the First Thursday.

Additional Information:

- A selection committee must review and approve selected pieces of work.
- The review process may take up to four weeks once your application has been completed. Your application will not be considered complete until 10 to 15 images of your work have been received by CCA.
- Once the committee has approved the artists and their work, a contract will be drawn between the artist and Cornerstone Center for the Arts.
- Approximately 20 works (enough to fill the gallery) must be completed before signing contract.
- Each piece of work must be titled, priced, and inventoried.
- Cornerstone will handle sales of the art and retain a commission of 25% as a result from the exhibit
- Artist bio, statement, photo of art, and headshot (preferred but not required) is required 45 days before gallery opening.
- Artist is strongly encouraged to attend First Thursday opening.
- Artist is expected to be involved during installation.
- A contract MUST be in place before installation.
- An artist does not have to have shown prior to this show; Cornerstone is committed to showcasing new artists in the community.
- No minimum or maximum age of artist is required; however, a minor may not enter into a contract, however their representative may on their behalf.
- More than two artists, meaning a group of artists, may show in the gallery. Under those circumstances, each artist must read and sign the contract, unless the group is considered an entity, such as the Artist Guild, then a representative of the organization may sign on their behalf.
